

Going to Heroes Of The Imagination With My Family

Southbank Centre is a centre for arts and performance in London.

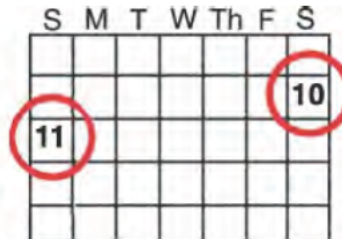

Touretteshero is a superhero.

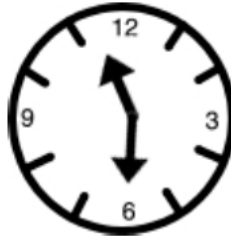

Southbank Centre and Touretteshero are putting on an event for children.

The event is called Heroes of the Imagination and is part of Imagine Children's Festival.

Heroes of The Imagination is on Saturday 10th and Sunday 11th February 2018.

Heroes of the Imagination will start at 11.30am.

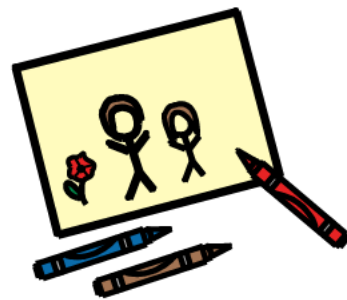

I am going to go with my family.

2

I will find Heroes of the Imagination in the Clore Ballroom on Level 2 of Royal Festival Hall.

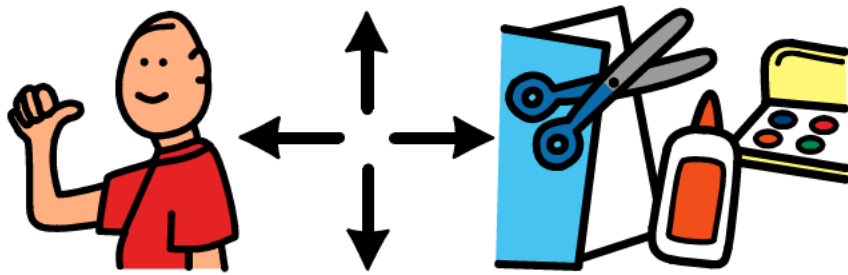

When I arrive I will be given my own superhero booklet.
I can write and draw on this to create my own superhero identity.

There will be artists running superhero-themed activities.

I can choose which activities I want to do.

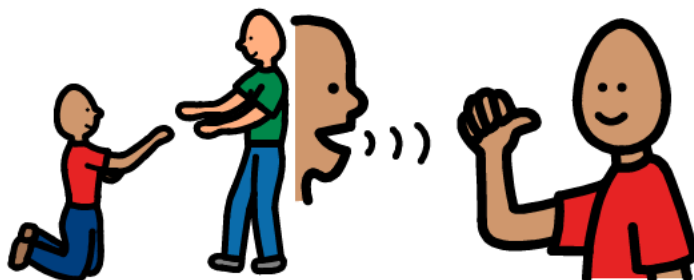

I can choose when I want to do a different activity.

The activities include: mask making, cape making and perfecting my superhero moves.

When I'm ready I can have my photo taken in the photo booth.

If I need help I can ask an adult helper.

The helpers will be wearing t-shirts with the Heroes of the Imagination logo on them.

There will be busy spaces and quiet spaces

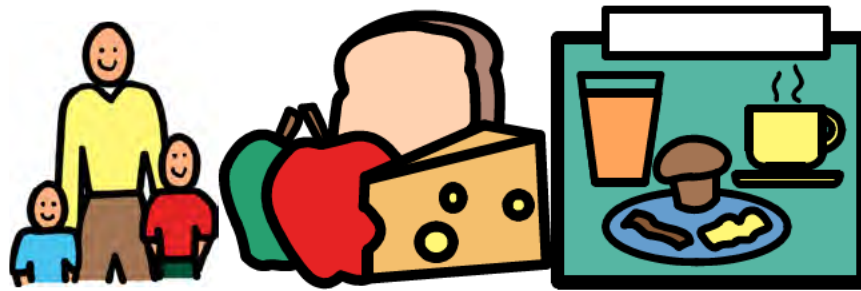

If I want to I can go to the chill-out space to relax.

If I see Touretteshero I can say hello or wave.

There will be other activities happening as part of the Imagine Children's Festival. My family and I can go and explore these if we like.

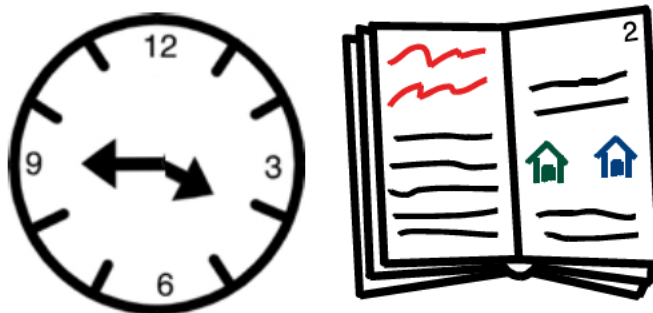

My family will bring a packed lunch or buy food from the café.

If I need the toilet I can follow the signs or ask a helper where they are.

There are wheelchair accessible toilets and a Changing Place toilet.
This is a very large toilet with a changing bed and hoist in it.

At 3.45pm the activities will stop and there will be an end of the day story.
I can listen to this if I want too.

Heroes of the Imagination will finish at 3.45pm and Imagine Festival will finish at 4pm.

I might like to say goodbye to the people I have met.

At the end of the day I will go home with my family.
